

Divination Disclaimer

After the reading, think about what you have planned for the day and apply the energies accordingly. The other option is to watch for the particular energies to manifest so you can work with or around them as you feel necessary. Free Will gives us the choice to either heed the counsel of the runes or, should the energy of a particular outcome not resonate with one, to make the changes for the outcome one would like to manifest.

The most important thing to remember is that the information given by the runes should not be used in replacement of any professional help that may be needed. The runes will counsel, advise and verify, but will not diagnose. That is the job of a doctor or therapist. The runes may advise of this course of action to confirm it.

This disclaimer can be worded to include any divination tool, such as runes, tarot, oracle cards, scenting, etc